

Web Application Development

If you think your web presence is only an online brochure for your organization – think beyond! Remember the internet is an 'interactive medium' and hence two-way communication is essential to fully utilize the benefits the web has to offer. The world is now moving to Web 2.0 on the internet, which essentially emphasises this. An online presence is incomplete without the 'interactivity quotient' in it.

At MyIntellects, we offer customized web based application development and ecommerce web site design solutions for your business to help you harness the power of connectivity and communication that the internet offers as a medium.

Some of the most commonly used web applications that we can deliver (but not restricted to) includes the following:

- Ecommerce web development - ecommerce engines for selling all kinds of products and services (ecommerce web design, ecommerce shopping cart)
- Booking or Reservation Engines for the entire 'travel and hospitality' industry
- Lead Management Systems for effective collection and dissemination of leads
- Online Testing Applications for testing students, candidates or employees
- E-Learning and Online Tutoring modules
- API integrations for online third party software
- Blogs and Discussion Forums
- Podcasts and RSS feeds
- Feedback and Online Rating tools
- Video Streaming

- Complaint Managements Systems

- Off the shelf software integration

We also provide custom web application development and ecommerce website development services internationally.
